

CYO GLORY

January, 2008

Remembering that all we do is for the glory of God...

By Christine McIntyre

Lord help me to remember that nothing is going to happen to me today that You and I together can't handle.
Amen.

Snow

Snow blows
In bunches.
Snow sparkles
And crunches.
Snow is clean and cold.
Snow is crisp, and yet
When it warms a little,
Snow is wet.
Any winter day, I know,
Is more pleasant when there is snow.

Ronald McDonald House

On Sunday January 20th, St. Luke's 7th & 8th grade CYO members went to the Ronald McDonald House. The program helps make meals for families of sick children going to hospitals in Philadelphia to get help with their medical problems. The patients have to be under the age of eighteen. With the help of the Saint Luke CYO members many sick children are fed and have their minds taken away from the horrible diseases they are dealing with. The program is run by Mrs. Corcoran. Some parents also come and help supervise us in the kitchen. The members that go are assigned food that is necessary to bring in for the preparation of the meal. This act of service shows how devoted the CYO members and parents of Saint Luke CYO are to helping others. We are going to have a few more visits to Ronald McDonald House this year. Try to join us!

One Act Play Review

Wow! One Act Play was terrific this year! All three casts put in great effort to get the shows up and running, and it sure did pay off! Everyone I talked to loved the shows! A special thanks to Mrs. Dillinger, Mrs. Dunn, and Alison Carter for the hard work in producing the plays! In "You the Jury," it turned out that "Young Bill Hughes", a college student with no blemish on his record", was declared not guilty in both shows. The defense must have worked hard those two nights! Maybe next time Slater! Madeleine Brownsey

Saint Luke's Super Lukers Robotics Team

This year's Robotics Team made it to the FLL (First State Lego League) Championship. It was a lot of fun! Everybody on the team did a great job while competing in the actual Robot part, the power puzzle, the teamwork judging and the Robot judging. We are not yet sure how we placed but we don't care because we had the time of our lives. The team consists of Christine McIntyre, Cate Hughes, Ian Trauffer, Joey Pritz, Kiera Mahoney, Teresita Liebel, Jake Meizinger, Pat Dolan, Nicky Borowy, Joe McNiff, and Jacob Ross. Also with the help of our mentors Valerie Hart, Jane Hughes, and Micaela Samodelov and our leaders Mr. Trauffer, Mr. Wood, and Mr. Borowy. I hope everyone had as much fun as I did.

National Treasure: Book of Secrets

This sequel wasn't as good as the original. I still highly recommend it though. Ben Gates (played by Nicholas Cage) goes on another high action, edge of your seat adventure to find the "City of Gold." He needs to find the Book of Secrets first. The "Book of Secrets" is believed to be a book given to the president and only the president containing all of the nation's secrets, such as Area 51 and what happened at Roswell. In this case to find a city made of gold. Gates does it all to help a family member. I give it a 4 1/2 out a 5.

Boys Basketball

It is about halfway through the season for the 7th and 8th grade boys basketball, and all of the Saint Luke's teams are doing great! There are four teams in all—three "B" teams and one "A" team—and not one has a losing record. This is exceptionally difficult because of having so many teams. Coach Mascione has coached the "B" Gray team to a stellar 5 and 2. The playoffs seem like a probable outcome for him. Coach O'Neil has kept the "B" Blue team going strong at 3 and 3, and they still have a fighting chance. Although they recently suffered a tough loss to the Gray team, Coach Stieritz has maintained a superb record of 5 and 2 for the "B" White team. They still have a tough road ahead, but the playoffs are a definite possibility. Mr. O'Malley has led the "A" team to 6 and 4, but after a close loss to St. Genevieve's, the playoffs have just slipped through his grasp. There is still about half of the season left, so all of the teams have a chance at redemption and a great year. Good luck!
